

Back Propagation

Definitions:

Backpropagation is the central mechanism by which neural networks learn. It is the messenger telling the network whether or not the net made a mistake when it made a prediction.

Sources:

- <http://neuralnetworksanddeeplearning.com/chap2.html>
- <https://medium.com/datathings/neural-networks-and-backpropagation-explained-in-a-simple-w>
- <https://medium.com/datathings/neural-networks-and-backpropagation-explained-in-a-simple-w>
- <https://pathmind.com/wiki/backpropagation>